

QUESTION:

e. It was indicated that Hunt had some pocket litter, including a driver's license and Social Security card with the name Edward J. Hamilton. What, if anything, do we know about this?

ANSWER:

Mr. Hunt was issued the alias Edward J. Hamilton on 30 September 1960. This name was erroneously recorded at that time on a District of Columbia Driver's Permit as Edward V. Hamilton. Mr. Hunt was supposed to use the District of Columbia's Driver's Permit for only one week. On or about 26 September 1960, Mr. Hunt was issued various unspecified organizational cards in the name of Edward J. Hamilton. We cannot specifically state at this time that a Social Security card was or was not included, but it is likely to have been. The Federal Bureau of Investigation was advised of these particulars by memoranda dated 27 June and 5 July 1972, copies of which are attached.
