Thanks, Mark. Clarity on which one the Europeans believe to be the outlier would be helpful.

Mark
