DCID No. 2-2

DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE DIRECTIVE NO. 2/2¹

CRITICAL COLLECTION PROBLEMS COMMITTEE

(Effective 18 May 1976)

Pursuant to Section 102 of the National Security Act of 1947, Executive Order ~~11652~~ 12036 and National Security Council Intelligence Directives, a Critical Collection Problems Committee (CCPC) is hereby established as a standing Director of Central Intelligence Committee with the following mission and functions:

1. Mission

The mission of the committee, under the general guidance of the Director of Central Intelligence, is to advise and assist in the examination of intelligence collection problems which are specifically referred to the committee by the Director of Central Intelligence in execution of his responsibilities for planning, reviewing and evaluating foreign intelligence activities.

2. Functions

The committee shall respond to requests from the Director of Central Intelligence to:

- a. Examine specific intelligence targets, either substantive or geographic, and recommend actions necessary to improve collection on such targets and ensure timely response to related priority needs of the Intelligence Community.
- b. Review and evaluate the efficiency and effectiveness of specific ongoing intelligence collection activities, including the processes of operational tasking and coordination among and between Intelligence Community organizations and their contractors.
- c. Examine, as appropriate, proposed new collection programs to assess the potential usefulness and timeliness of the information to be gained thereby in relation to present and projected information holdings of National Foreign Intelligence Board organizations and other government departments and agencies, and in relation to other projected collection efforts.
- d. Prepare, in conjunction with other Director of Central Intelligence committees as appropriate, country studies describing and evaluating US intelligence, collection programs and equities in a designated country, and their importance to the information needs of the US Government.
- e. Prepare for the Intelligence Community, as directed, intelligence resources annexes to National Security Council documents.

¹This directive supersedes DCID No. 2-2 effective 25 April 1965

CONFIDENTIAL
