MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

FROM :

SUBJECT : History Project

STAT

1. Each notebook contains:

- Monthly diary showing
  - major areas of your activity during that month
  - documents I have assembled for each area in a separate, small set of files at OEGB.
- Your daily appointments
  - used as a reminder to me to help put the diary together
  - from which, hopefully, you will be reminded of items I am missing which you want to have.

2. My criteria in selecting topics and items was:

- Would this be significant in a reconstruction of your activities?
- Does this provide an insight into the culture/psychology of the CIA?

3. Problems and solutions:

- How to cut the pie?
  - File by major topic so that one file would contain everything on SALT, for example; or
  - File chronologically, so you could see what you did on SALT each month.

ADMINISTRATIVE - INTERNAL USE ONLY

STAT

What I did: Compromised. The diary is month by month showing topics dealt with and the documents I have; the files are by topic so everything on SALT is in one folder.

- How to keep the diary from being an all-revealing, single source of your activities a la the Pentagon Papers.

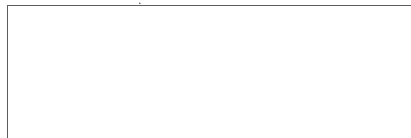

What I did: made the diary entries as cryptic as possible, hoping they would be enough to trigger your memory. Are they too cryptic?

- What backup files to keep.

What I did: tried to stay away from special classifications/ codeword, etc. That way, if you wanted you could transfer a relatively small set of files to secure storage or some NAVRESCTR where you would have easy and unquestioned access without concern for exotic materials.

I have no complete studies in the files. Do you want NIE's, etc.?
