Fall Deadline: August 15 Tel: (614) 422-1431

The Ohio State University, founded in 1860, includes 16 colleges and a graduate school.

The Columbus campus has more than 337 permanent buildings and occupies more than 3652 acres of land, including 1080 acres for research and teaching in agriculture, a 245-acre airport, and two 18-hole golf courses. The library contains over 3 million volumes.

The total University teaching faculty is comprised of some 3000 persons. The ratio of full-time students to instructional staff is about 21 to 1. Nearly 71% of the regular full-time faculty members hold doctorate degrees. Salaries for professors are at the national average. The University uses the quarter calendar system with a 10-week summer session. It is accredited by the North Central Assoc. and various professional agencies.

◆ Student Life: Students come from all 50 states and 85 countries. About 17% of the men and 24% of the women live in dormitories. It is estimated that 32% of the students do not return for their sophomore year; about 42% remain to graduate; and 5% of the graduates continue in graduate study.

There is great variety in the cultural, intellectual, recreational, and social activities offered by the University. A full sports program, concerts, plays, lectures, and visiting artists supplement the special interest clubs and extracurricular activities. Many honorary societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, have chapters on campus. There are 44 fraternities and 22 sororities which 11% of the men and 13% of the women join.

◆ Programs of Study: The College of Administrative Science offers the B.S.B.A. and the B.S. in Social Welfare. The College of Agriculture and Home Economics offers a B.S. in related areas including the field of Natural Resources. The Colleges of Arts and Sciences, the Arts, Biological Sciences, Humanities, Mathematics and Physical Sciences, and Social and Behavioral Sciences, offer the B.A., B.S., B.F.A., and B.Mus., including pre-professional programs leading to these degrees. The College of Engineering offers a B.S. in 12 areas of Engineering as well as the B.S. Arch. and the B.S. in Computer and Information Science. The College of Education offers the B.S.Ed., including combination curricula with other Colleges. The College of Dentistry cooperates with the College of Education in a program leading to the B.S.Ed. and to certification as a Graduate Dental Hygienist. The College of Medicine has a B.S. program in 7 allied medical professions and a B.S.M.

◆ Required: All students must take courses in the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, and physical and health education.

◆ Special: The University sponsors numerous studies in the international field and study tours abroad during the academic year. Additional curricula include Architecture, Circulation Technology, Home Economics and Journalism, Medical Communications, Natural Resources, and Theater. Other special programs include honors, independent study, and ROTC. The University has recently instituted academic programs in Industrial Design, Respiratory Technology, and Radiologic Technology.

◆ Expenses: Instructional and general fees for the Ohio residents are $810 per academic year (three quarters). Out-of-state students pay $1860. Room and board in residence halls are $1464 per year; books and supplies average $150. The University awards 1200 freshman scholarships each year. A federal government fund of $3 million and a $650,000 fund administered by the University provide student loans. The average freshman scholarship or loan is $650 and the maximum from these sources combined with campus employment is $2400 for a first year student.

The PCS is required; the aid application deadline is March 1. Notification is given by May 1.

◆ Admissions: Recently the University received 12,762 applications, accepted 11,881, and finally enrolled 6768. About 40% graduated in the top fifth of their high school class.

◆ Standards: A graduate of an accredited high school who is a resident of Ohio and who has never attended college may be accepted for admission as a regular freshman as enrollment ceilings permit. Out-of-state students who have demonstrated the academic ability to succeed at Ohio State will be considered for admission as freshmen in accordance with available resources. Academic performance in high school, test scores, and principal or counselor recommendations may be evaluated to determine eligibility for admission. Later admission to a particular degree program may depend upon enrollment ceilings and other criteria of that program.

All candidates are strongly urged to present a minimum of 4 units of English, 2 of mathematics (not including general mathematics), 2 of the same foreign language, 2 of science (not including general science), and as much social science as can be elected, including American history and government.

◆ Procedure: Applicants for the freshman class are required to submit scores on the ACT to provide information for counseling and placement. Deadline for applications for the fall quarter is August 15. Notification is on a rolling basis. Freshmen are admitted to all quarters. There is a $10 application fee. There is an Early Admission plan whose deadline for application is May 1. AP and CLEP credit is granted.
