He led the initial strikes from a carrier deck in the Tonkin Gulf against North Vietnam in 1964. Shot down and captured over a year later during his second combat tour in Vietnam, he spent most of his seven and one-half years of imprisonment in solitary confinement. Despite repeated torture and years of restraint in leg irons and handcuffs he maintained contact with his fellow Americans by secret means, setting standards and policy for the prisoners' organization and united resistance. He is the most highly decorated officer in the Navy.

SYBIL BAILEY STOCKDALE, the wife of Vice Admiral Stockdale, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Mt. Holyoke College, and a Master of Arts degree from Stanford University. Before her marriage in 1947, she was a member of the faculty of St. Catherine's School in Richmond, Va. During the first 18 years of life as a Navy wife, she taught at several high schools, raised four sons, and moved 23 times! After her husband became a POW in North Vietnam in September 1965, Mrs. Stockdale attained national stature as the founder and initial Board Chairman of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia. Throughout the remainder of the war she met regularly with Dr. Kissinger and periodically with the President. She also travelled to Paris for a confrontation with the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris Peace talks.
