PROGRAMS DIVISION

Accomplishments: FY 1953

Seminar: Western Europe and the Revival of Germany

Place: Foreign Service Institute

Time: Every Tuesday evening

Quota: 5

Description: This course aims to bring together representatives of State, MSA, and Defense to consider these problems from four points of view: political, economic, psychological and military. It opens with consideration of U.S. objectives in Western Europe, and the reasons for them. Then it examines the compatibility of our objectives with those of two principal European countries, Germany and France. Then comes a detailed analysis of trends in Western Europe since World War II and their implications for the next several years. The closing sessions are devoted to the means—political, economic, psychological and military—by which the U.S. plans to try to achieve its ends.

Special Program on Central Asia

Description: This Special Program is divided into three parts: Summer Session, subject, Chinese Central Asia; Fall Semester, Russian Central Asia; Part One and Spring Session; Russian Central Asia, Part Two. General scope includes climate and resources, agriculture, industry and communications, administrative structure, population distribution, languages and literatures, religion, art, etc.

Length: Indicated above. Student may participate in part or all.

Place: ██████████ Classes will meet Mondays, Wednesdays, and Friday evenings, beginning 29 June 1953.

Basic Qualifications: Persons concerned with problems related to these areas.

Quota: Indefinite

Program will probably not be repeated.

Auspices: Contract between ██████████

B. Objectives: FY 1954-55

1. Courses to be established in FY 1954-55

- a. Beginning Chinese (Mandarin). Duration: 30 weeks. This is a semi-intensive--four classes of one and one-half hours each per week, plus approximately 12 hours of laboratory drill per week. Phase One (18 weeks) will consist of intensive training in oral skills, vocabulary, and the analysis of the most important grammatical constructions. Phase Two (12 weeks) will emphasize the reading and writing of Chinese. Oral drill and tapes will supplement the written material. In addition, new grammatical construction, use of dictionaries, and other miscellaneous matters, will be presented in this phase. Work load: 6 students.
- b. A course in Intermediate Chinese will be introduced at the completion of the Beginning Chinese course. Duration: 32 weeks. In this course the emphasis will be almost entirely upon the written language with some oral and aural drill. The aim of the reading course will be to provide recognition of approximately 1,200 characters. Work load: 4-6 students.
- c. Polish Reading (16 weeks, $4\frac{1}{2}$ hours per week, plus 9 hours of laboratory drill). This course will provide an introduction to the forms of the written language and some drill in reading Polish texts of moderate difficulty. Work load: Approximately 6 students.
- d. Basic Spoken Russian (16 weeks, $4\frac{1}{2}$ hours per week, plus 9 hours weekly of laboratory drill). Contingent upon the entry on duty of a Russian linguist, one or two sections of Basic Spoken Russian will be given in FY 1954-55. Work load: 6-12 students.

2. Other developmental plans and objectives to be accomplished in FY 1954-55.

- a. A proposed project to provide cover for Tibetan refugees and to afford them the opportunity to engage in a language and area program (English and the United States) prior to assignment to other training facilities.
- b. Provision of academic cover for area and language training abroad.
