Mr. Lawrence Houston
General Counsel
Central Intelligence Agency
2430 E Street N.W.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Houston:

STATINTL

Pursuant to our conversations of November 3rd and 6th, I am forwarding  the C.I.A. questionnaire, which I completed after several unavoidable delays. A copy of the "Experience Record" portion of the questionnaire is enclosed for you.

The investigation based on this document will no doubt ultimately give you all essential information. However, I will in the meantime forward you copies of some opinions of my general character and ability which I am now gathering. If there are any points on which you want specific details, please advise me.

While I was in Washington, my inquiries disclosed several suitable possibilities for me in other agencies and I have, or will, file applications therefor. Conceivably, one of such possibilities may materialize, and common sense requires me to take advantage of it, before the C.I.A. security check is completed.

I shall keep you advised of any changes in my circumstances in the next few months. No matter what the changes may be, if your office decides to add an attorney, I want to be the man if it is humanly possible. I feel confident I would be effective in the kind of assignment you adumbrated in our discussion. Some of my capabilities which have not been fully realized on the commercial plane could, I know, be brought to bear in the framework of your activities.

It was a pleasure to meet you and your associates. I hope the future will see the acquaintance renewed and extended.

Very truly yours,

STATINTL
