1. [REDACTED] is being caught in the reduction in force in MRB after about three months work there. I interviewed him and found him personable and apparently above average in intelligence.

2. On questioning, I gathered the feeling that [REDACTED] while capable in the law, is not interested in the law per se. Thus his ambition in coming to Washington was labor law and I feel he is more interested in the problems of labor than purely the legal aspects. This does not mean he might not make a pretty good lawyer, but it appeared to me that there might be a need for this type of ability and background in other parts of the office which would be more compatible.

3. If, however, there is no interest in the Agency, I should like to be notified of the fact. ✓
