GROUP II

1. The Rail Line: KYSHTYM-CHELYABINSK-UFA-KUYBYSHEV ranks very high of those sections of rail suspected of being associated with ICBM deployment. There is practically no intelligence on most of this rail line and travel by Westerners over a good portion of this line has been denied.

25X1D 2. Unidentified construction at BEREZOVKA, noted in Mission [redacted] strongly suggests the possibility of an operational ICBM deployment site in early stage of development. It is anticipated that sufficient time has elapsed to provide further indication of the purpose of the construction. Should this installation prove to be an ICBM launch site, it would aid in interpreting existing photography or new photography at other places.

25X1C 4. The area southwest of STALINGRAD along the DON RIVER is a heavily industrialized area on which no recent photo coverage is available. [redacted] missile production at ROSTOV, possible I RBM deployment at KERCH, missile R&D at KARANGIT, and an operating base for ASM BADGERS from BAGEROVO Airfield.
