WG-III Report in response to EDAC D-181

This report is confined to presenting those bloc economic activities, consisting of trade and development and technical assistance efforts, the objectives of which have apparently included:

- a) obtaining strategic imports, technology, and services, either by purchase or barter or by extending credit to finance the production of strategic imports; and
- b) increasing the reliance of a country on trade with the bloc with the aim of existing strategic imports from it.

The report thereby excludes reference to bloc economic activities undertaken in the pursuit of other objectives, political or economic, without reflecting any judgment as to whether any of these other activities are or should be considered of "economic defense" interest.

© Taking advantage of particular commodity or trade problems in Free World countries which have made available to the Bloc the opportunity to increase their influence.
