5. [REDACTED] Talked with William Darden, Senate Armed Services Committee staff, indicating our availability for any assistance which might be desired in connection with the subject of the McCarthy resolution which, we understand, is to be brought up on the Senate floor within the next week to ten days. I specifically asked Darden if he should desire anything from the Director clarifying the situation with respect to his declination to answer certain questions during his briefing of the Foreign Relations Committee this passed February. I reviewed this situation with Darden who said he felt he had sufficient information on the subject. I also mentioned that Senator Symington, who was present at the time, also had material on this.
