8. [redacted] Carl Marcy, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, called inquiring about a response to Senator Fulbright's letter on the Carver article. I indicated that due to pressure of business we had not completed this although I had just discussed this with the Director a few minutes ago. He then inquired if we had any queries from the Armed Services Committee on the proposal to have some members of Senate Foreign Relations sit in on CIA Subcommittee briefings. I advised Marcy that we had no queries on this from the Armed Services Committee.
