I talked with [REDACTED] after that grand mix-up he perpetrated for the Friday question period when both you and Des Fitzgerald were scheduled at the same time. [REDACTED] is abject in his apologies and has difficulty in finding words to explain how badly he feels over the mix-up. He has asked if he may have three minutes of your time to come over personally and express his regret for the mix-up. I would recommend that you see him for no more than five minutes, since I think this personal apology is in order.
