'Jack' Flynn Tells the Story Behind Florida Acquisitions

CHICAGO
The Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel and the Orlando Star formally became part of the Tribune Company with the completion of the transaction Aug. 31 in the office of J. Howard Wood, president of Tribune Company and publisher of the Chicago Tribune. Participating in the formal closing were Mr. Wood, F. M. Flynn, president of the News Syndicate Company Inc., and publisher of the New York News, and F. A. Nichols, Tribune treasurer and assistant to the president, for Tribune Company, and Martin Andersen, president of Orlando Daily Newspapers Inc., and his wife, Gracia.

The Orlando newspapers were purchased through the Sentinel Star Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Tribune Company.
