STAT

Please accept my apology for not providing material to you sooner in regard to your visit to ACIC. However, I do have some reasons, if not a good excuse, for not doing so. I have been attempting to gather some data beyond that which I am now forwarding; and because of TDY and other problems in our programming cycle requiring attention, I have not finalized the other data I want to provide.

Therefore, I have decided to send this material for your use and supplement it as soon as I can. I will try to provide more data within the next two weeks.

I would like to say I enjoyed your visit and was very impressed with the thoroughness and comprehension of the persons you brought along. It appears they should understand the material without further explanation, but please have them call if they have further questions. I sincerely believe that anything we can do to provide you with info will help us all in the long run.

Again, I am sorry about the delay.

Sincerely,

P.S. As a further item of interest, our CAPS (Computer Assisted Program System) Phase II under PROMACS has had the Preliminary Functional Description prepared. As soon as we have completed review and it is firm in respect to continued finalization, I will provide you with copy.
