1. First, glance over the material in your present file (or simply check the folder labels) and note which of the 31 subjects on page 33 of reference (a) apply. The alphabetical index beginning on page 72 will also help. Make up a file guide for each applicable subject. Arrange these guides alphabetically in an empty drawer or other vacant work space. A couple of boxes will do temporarily if cabinet space is tight.
 2. Next, separate current files from your non-current records. ("Current" should be interpreted to mean "needed in the conduct of current business, regardless of the date of the document." However, in most cases current files will be those for the current year.) Simply take one folder at a time, note its contents and the date of the material. If a folder contains both current and non-current material, don't "break" the folder, transfer the entire folder to the new file you're setting up. Place each folder behind the primary guide that best identifies the contents of the folder (e.g. Personnel, Liaison, Security, etc.). Again you may wish to refer to the alphabetical index for guidance. Folder by folder work your way through the entire file. Be sure to write the primary classification on each folder in pencil to ensure its proper return should it be charged out.
 3. Now you're in business. You've separated your active files from the bulk of your inactive records. You've also grouped related material together. In all probability you've found folders you never knew existed. You may also find duplicate documents filed in separate folders, or folders that have but one or two papers. Your next step then is to set up the necessary folders to refine your system.

To do this, first determine the secondary, and if necessary, the tertiary classification of each piece of current material behind a primary guide. Examine each folder. Often all of the material in one folder can be classified under one secondary classification such as "Attendance and Absence" which is a secondary heading under the primary, "PERSONNEL." In this case the entire folder can be classified. However, if a folder contains miscellaneous papers, for example on personnel matters, you'll need to classify each paper.

Make up the necessary folders that the volume and the number of secondary or tertiary subjects require. For instance, if the record volume is small, make a folder only for the primary subject, even though you may have classified some papers according to a secondary or tertiary category. Later, if the primary folder becomes full (20-30 pieces), you can set up secondary folders. Place the current material in the new folders, and transfer the balance of any noncurrent material back to the noncurrent file.

4. Continue the above process in succession for each subject category until you've reworked your entire file. You'll find that this can be done in spare moments without disrupting the orderliness of your files.

What are Records Control Schedules?

An approved plan for the timely disposition of inactive records at specific intervals by destruction or retirement to the Records Center.

ORR Records Control Schedules

Prepared in early 1955 and approved by all responsible officials in ORR from the Branch Chief up the line to the Assistant Director.

Approved for use as a guide in 1958

Branch Administrative Files-- We are concerned with Housekeeping and Personnel Administration, Substantive Administration - Requirements, Office Notices, Regulations, etc. Cover Program, Gray area --- in between translation requests, Research Program 1957, Evaluation, Personnel Folders, Analysts Files, Chrono Files, Attache Correspondence Files

Values of Administrative Records at Branch level.
Duplication at the Division, Area, and Administrative Staff level.
Duplication is necessary for direct supervision and administration---
No historical value in these files.
Major offices in Agency have the official Agency records -- Personnel, Fiscal, Logistics, Training, etc.
Your Records Control Schedule approves destruction of these records after 3 years.

Cut off procedure and techniques

Only economical way of eliminating inactive material.
Screening individual papers is time consuming and expensive
Terminate your files annually and start new ones
Bring forward to the current file that material from the old files only as it is used in the conduct of current business and not on the basis of "I think I will need it". Thus when retention period expires on the old file you can easily destroy it without screening as it is primarily residue which has not been used during the retention period.

Transfer sheets

Installation of the subject-numeric filing system

Handout on "How to install the Agency subject-numeric filing system".
Generally we will follow the same procedure as outlined in this handout except that having set up several files in the ~~Economic~~ Area, we feel that we can take a few short cuts. Similarity of Branch Administrative responsibilities and Control ~~has~~ has enabled us to predict a large percentage of the subjects in your files

How we propose to install the subject-numeric file system in your files. At the end of this meeting, I will schedule a day, or more if necessary, with each of you to accomplish the actual change over. I would suggest that you select a day which will be convenient for you to devote time to work on this change over as it would help you in learning the system. To establish this file system without training the custodian of the file might lead to difficulty in locating material when needed.

The first step in the change over is this----- Remove all material in your present file that is dated prior to 1955 and destroy it. This will usually cut the problem in half. There are exceptions such as policy, procedures, etc. (although old) may be still current and would naturally remain in the current file. I would suggest that an attempt be made to accomplish this before I am scheduled to come to your Branch so that we can devote our full time to the change over. Office Notice on reporting destruction

To make the installation easier we have had the Typing Pool (Office of Personnel) prepare file guides and folders on selected primary and secondary subjects which we feel will take care of at least 75% of your material. These subjects were selected by us after their continued recurrence in administrative files elsewhere in the Economic Area. Additional guides and folders will have to be made at the time of installation to cover those items peculiar to your Branch

Folders & Guides

1955 -1956 Files --- This material would not be disturbed and will remain in the same file system that you presently have. At the end of 1958 this material would be transferred to the Records Center for retention of one additional year and then destroyed. Records Center notifies the office prior to actual destruction. You can retire them sooner if you wish.

1957 Files --- This material will be separated or withdrawn from the present file system and set up under the subject-numeric file system. Lenience in the general rule of bringing material forward to the current files.

Prior to January 1958
1958 Files --- You will be furnished a package of guides and folders already labeled to establish your 1958 files.

FOREWORD

This Handbook has been prepared to serve as a guide for installing and maintaining the "Subject Numeric System of Filing", ~~in the Agency~~. Its purpose is to provide a standard system for the orderly arrangement and maintenance of records. The use of this standard system ~~in the Agency~~ will increase the administrative usefulness of records; expedite the disposition of records when they are no longer needed; facilitate the preservation of records having permanent value; and simplify the training of employees.

The subjects appearing in the "Subject List" of this Handbook are predominantly administrative in nature. This has been done deliberately in the belief that the Handbook can be used "as is" for administrative or nontechnical files.

For those elements ~~in the Agency~~ having use, or need for a more technical "Subject List" than is provided in this Handbook the Records Management ~~Division~~, Management Staff, ^{Staff} is prepared to assist in adapting or modifying the procedures or "Subject List" outlined to fit the specific requirements of such elements.

HANDBOOK FOR SUBJECT FILING

SECTION I

INTRODUCTION

1. SCOPE

The Standard File Classification System and the attendant procedures described herein are prescribed for use in filing and maintaining correspondence records of the ~~Central Intelligence Agency~~. Although the system is designed to permit a certain amount of flexibility to meet the specific requirements of various offices, it is essential that the basic pattern provided herein be followed carefully if an adequate degree of standardization is to be maintained. Further subdivision of any of the subjects listed is permissible to provide for the necessary detail which may be required by some offices. "Case" or "project" files may be established under any subject as required. ~~In addition, the Clandestine Services is exempt from the provisions of this Handbook to the extent dictated by its internal special requirements.~~

2. RESPONSIBILITIES

The Records Management ~~Division~~^{Staff}, ~~Management Staff~~ and designated Area Records Officers throughout the Agency have technical custody and responsibility for the proper maintenance and disposition of official records of the Agency. The Records Management ~~Division~~^{Staff} will furnish to offices maintaining official records all assistance possible in the establishment of their files, including procedures for maintenance, servicing, and retirement of the records.

3. DEFINITIONS

a. OFFICIAL RECORD COPY

The original or copy of a letter, document, report, etc., which is maintained in a designated "Official File Station" for documentation purposes and which is distinguished from other copies of the same document, in the same organizational element, by the fact that such other copies merely serve as temporary working papers, "convenience" files, etc.

~~RECORDS~~

b. OFFICIAL FILE

Each file containing official record copies shall constitute an "official file" and should include the original incoming communication and the initialed yellow copies of outgoing and interoffice correspondence; original or action copies of reports, executed forms, maps, photographs, and other documentary material. The official record copies shall not be maintained in any organizational unit not specifically designated as an Official File Station.

Reference material consisting of printed or duplicated copies of publications, extra copies of communications used as reading files, and other material considered as temporary working papers is not included in the definition of official records. Such nonrecord material shall not be interfiled with official records.

c. OFFICIAL FILE STATIONS

The term "Official File Station" ~~shall be construed to mean any specifically designated organizational element of the Central Intelligence Agency where the official record copies of correspondence and other documents are maintained.~~ The physical location of an Official File Station shall be determined by the head of such organizational element, with technical advice from Records Management ^{Staff.} ~~Division.~~

d. CLASSIFY, CLASSIFIED, AND CLASSIFICATION

As used in this Handbook and in filing operations, these terms refer to the subject or file designation of records and not to defense classifications: "TOP SECRET," "SECRET," or "CONFIDENTIAL."

SECTION II
TYPES OF FILES

4. SUBJECT FILES

Subject Files are considered to be those types of paper records which ordinarily include correspondence, reports, and other documents which may be classified and filed under all or many of the subject categories included in the File Classification Guide. The general subject material is distinguished from that which is ordinarily identified as "case" or "project" files as described in the next paragraph.

5. CASE OR PROJECT FILES

A case or project file is ~~described as~~ a file comprised of material relating to a specific action, transaction, person, organization, location or thing, yet may cover one or many subjects pertaining to the specific case or project. Types of case or project files may include voucher files, contracts, loan cases, construction projects, leases, litigation cases, and many others. Case or project files may be included as a part of the subject files or they may be located physically apart from such files. As a general rule the volume of these records and the use made of them should dictate their arrangement.

6. ALPHABETICAL NAME INDEX

The Alphabetical Name Index is a finding medium through which correspondence and other documents filed by subject may be located when the available information is the name of the correspondent, the name of the author of a document, or the name of an individual or organization referred to in correspondence or documents. It is not always necessary or advisable to establish a name index to the subject file. Therefore, careful consideration should be given to the actual need for such an index before establishing one. In other words, the Alphabetical Name Index should not be established at any Official File Station if:

- a. The quantity of material filed by subject is so small that no difficulty will be encountered in locating it by subject;

- b. The type of records filed is susceptible to an alphabetical arrangement by names within the subject files; or
- c. The type of material can be located easily by case or project symbol, number, or other means of identification, without the aid of an alphabetical index.

If the Alphabetical Name Index is used it should be composed of extra copies (normally pink tissues) of outgoing correspondence, and ~~Forms No. 36-150 or 36-150A~~ (to be redesignated as Forms No. 135 and 135a). "Correspondence Cross Reference." Paragraph 12c describes the arrangement of folders and guides for the Alphabetical Name Index.

SECTION III

STANDARD FILE CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM

7. DESCRIPTION

Agency
The file classification system adopted for use in the ~~Central Intelligence Agency~~ is known as the "Subject-Numeric System of Classifying and Filing." This system is an adaptation of both the simple subject and numerical coding systems. It retains the simplicity of the alphabetical arrangement of subject titles, brings together related subjects, and provides file designations consisting of a combination of descriptive subject titles with related subjects organized as subdivisions of the primary subjects. The subdivisions of the primary subjects are assigned Arabic numerals to reduce time and effort in marking material for filing and to make it easy to memorize the filing designations. ?

8. FILE CLASSIFICATION GUIDE

The File Classification Guide contained in Part Two of this Handbook is divided into two parts, as follows:

- a. A Subject List consisting of a group of alphabetically arranged primary subject titles with their related secondary and suggested tertiary subdivisions.
- b. A Subject Index consisting of an alphabetical listing of all of the subject titles and other appropriate references. It serves the same purpose as an index to a book.

9. CLASSIFYING PAPERS FOR FILING

The process of classifying involves the analysis of correspondence or other documents to determine the subject by which they should be filed, and the placing of file designations on material to show where it should be placed in the file.

a. IMPORTANCE OF THE PROCESS

Papers received for classifying and filing may cover a wide variety of subjects. Also a number of papers involving one particular subject may be intermingled with those of other subjects. The file classification system is designed so that all of the papers on related subjects will be consistently and logically brought together in the files. However, sound judgment and careful attention must be given to the procedures which follow if the classification process is to be accomplished satisfactorily. THE ABILITY TO LOCATE PAPERS PROMPTLY AFTER THEY ARE FILED DEPENDS LARGELY UPON THE CARE USED WHEN CLASSIFYING MATERIAL BEFORE IT IS FILED.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

RECORDS

b. METHOD OF CLASSIFYING

The following are the normal procedures to follow when classifying material for filing.

- (1) Read and analyze the correspondence or other material to determine the most outstanding or prominent subject; that is, the subject by which the papers will most likely be requested.
- (2) Select the proper file designation by referring directly to the Subject List or Index of the File Classification Guide, in the following manner: (a) determine the appropriate primary subject category, such as TRAVEL, PERSONNEL, etc., for example, a letter concerning recruitment of personnel would fall under the primary subject PERSONNEL; (b) select the appropriate subdivision, if any, under the primary subject, for example, a letter concerned with budget estimates would be classified by the secondary subject Budget Estimates, a subdivision of the primary subject APPROPRIATIONS. Similar reasoning is applicable for the selection of tertiary subjects.

If no appropriate subdivisions of the primary subject have been provided, the primary subject itself is used as the file designation.

- (3) Stamp or write the file designation in the upper right corner of the Subject File copy (yellow tissue), as shown in Exhibit A or in the same position on any incoming correspondence which did not require a reply. The file designation consists of the full primary subject title followed by the Arabic numeral or numerals representing the subdivision of the primary subject. For example: The file designation ACCOUNTING 1 denotes the proper file classification for material to be filed under the primary subject ACCOUNTING, and the secondary subdivision Accounts Current.

- (4) Mark the Alphabetical Name Index Copies (if the index is being employed) at the same time the file designation is placed on the Subject File copy, by placing the same file designation by which the subject copy is to be filed, in the upper right corner of the pink copy as shown in Exhibit B. This file designation will indicate where the material is located in the Subject File. Also after the file designations are placed on the file copies, the name, title, etc., under which the Name Index copies are to be filed should be underscored on such copies. The following are examples of how the papers should be marked:

- (a) Correspondence addressed to private individuals should be filed by the last name of the individual addressed. Example of marking:

Mrs. Mary Brown
 1220 Ivy Street
 Seattle 5, Washington

- (b) Correspondence addressed to officials of commercial concerns should be filed under the name of the company or organization. Example of marking:

X
 Mr. John Doe, Manager
American Machine Corporation
 Chicago 12, Illinois

- (c) Correspondence addressed to officials within the Agency should be filed under the name of the principal organizational unit addressed, disregarding such terms as "Office of." Example of marking:

MEMORANDUM FOR: Special Assistant, Deputy Director (~~Administration~~)

*Example -

Should include "Office of" in Example (c)

- (d) Correspondence addressed to individuals in other Federal agencies should be filed under the name of the agency. Example of marking:

X
 Mr. Joseph Black
 Chief, Aeronautics Office
 Department of Commerce
 Washington 25, D. C.

- (5) Indicate the cross references to be prepared in the following manner:

- (a) For the Subject Files. If the material being classified involves more than one subject by which it is likely to be requested, or a single subject with more than one interpretation, select the file designation for the additional subject(s) and stamp or write it immediately below the file designation already shown for the main, most prominent subject. In such instances, a cross mark "X" should be placed at the left of the file designation to indicate that a cross reference is required, as follows:

RECORDS / 3

X COMMUNICATIONS 2

- (b) For the Alphabetical Name Index. If the Alphabetical Name Index copy is to be filed in the Name Index by the name of an organization, indicate, by placing a cross mark "x" above the first letter of the last name of the individual addressed, that a cross reference is to be made for filing by the name of the individual. Likewise, indicate cross references to be prepared for any names of persons or organizations referred to in the body of the correspondence or document.

- (6) Note earlier material to be brought forward and consolidated with later correspondence. If an indication of earlier correspondence or documents is discovered, this fact should be noted on the correspondence to indicate that the earlier material should be removed from the file and consolidated with the material of the later date. See paragraph 10b for instructions regarding preparation of Form No. 36-151 (to be redesignated as Form No. 232), Correspondence Continuity Reference.

c. HELPFUL HINTS TO THE CLASSIFIER

- (1) While some analytical ability is desirable, the knack of noticing essential key phrases and ideas in correspondence helps to select correct file designations. However, if the subject cannot be easily determined, it is helpful to consider the correspondence in this light: "Why was it written?" or "What reason was there that prompted the writer to write it?" Usually it will be found that the purpose for writing suggests the subject under which it should be filed.
- (2) It is helpful at times to refer to previous correspondence already on file to verify a tentatively selected file designation.
- (3) In unusual cases the subject of correspondence is so vague that it is difficult to determine the proper file designation. In such cases, there need be no hesitancy in going to the dictator or other authoritative sources to obtain a sufficiently clearer conception of the subject matter, so that the material may be properly classified. This extra effort will permit more accurate filing and facilitate finding the material.
- (4) The subject line frequently appearing above the body of correspondence should not be relied on too heavily in determining the subject under which the correspondence should be filed. It may be vague, misleading, or even remote from the real subject of correspondence concerned.
- (5) Persons responsible for classifying and filing records should study the organizational and functional structure of the Agency and keep currently informed regarding policies, procedures, programs, and projects. Such knowledge is essential to the selection of correct file designations.

SECTION IV

CROSS REFERENCES

10. WHEN AND HOW TO PREPARE CROSS REFERENCES

The use of appropriate cross references in the file or index can be an invaluable aid in locating material quickly when needed. Care should be taken, however, to avoid making and filing unnecessary cross references which will consume time in preparation and space in the files. The following are normal conditions under which cross references should be made.

a. WHEN MORE THAN ONE SUBJECT IS INVOLVED

For those documents which cover more than one subject as indicated in paragraph 9b(5) an extra copy of the document, if available, should be used or Form No. ~~36-150~~ / 35, or ~~36-150a~~, Correspondence Cross Reference, should be prepared, as shown in Exhibit C.

b. TO CONSOLIDATE RELATED MATERIAL

When it is necessary to bring forward earlier correspondence or documents and consolidate it with subsequent material as explained in paragraph 9b(6) Form No. ~~36-151~~, 232, Correspondence Continuity Reference, as shown in Exhibit D, should be prepared.

c. TO PROVIDE ALPHABETICAL NAME REFERENCES

When incoming letters are filed without replies, or extra copies of correspondence are not available for filing in the Alphabetical Name Index, name references should be made on Form No. ~~36-150~~ or ~~36-150a~~. Also, such references may be prepared for names of individuals or organizations referred to in the body of the correspondence.

SECTION V

FILING THE RECORDS

11. ASSEMBLING THE PAPERS FOR FILING

After correspondence and documents are marked with the correct filing designation, they should be properly assembled preparatory to filing. Each unit of material consisting of two or more papers relating to a particular transaction should be arranged in chronological order with the latest date on top. Such papers should be fastened together with staples in both upper corners of the assembly, or with prong fasteners if the unit of material is too thick for staples.

12. FOLDERS AND GUIDE ARRANGEMENT

The orderly appearance and efficiency of any file depends to a large extent upon the careful preparation, use, and arrangement of folders and guides in the file drawer. Folders are necessary to keep related papers together and in order. Guides serve as "sign posts" to help speed up filing and finding operations. The incorrect use of either folders or guides will retard, rather than aid, these operations. To provide for uniformity as to types of folders and guides and their arrangement, the following standards should be adhered to, as far as practicable:

a. GENERAL SUBJECT FILE

(1) Folders and File Designations

Kraft folders, 11-point weight, square-cut, with reinforced tabs meet requirements for the Subject Files. Such folders should be prepared for only those subject titles for which there is a definite current or anticipated need. If there is little or no need for the use of subdivisions of some of the primary subjects, folders for those subdivisions should not be placed in the files. If an occasional piece of correspondence is classified under a secondary or tertiary subject, the material should be placed in the primary subject folder.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

25X1

~~HANDBOOK~~

~~RECORDS~~

~~16 December 1954~~

When a primary subject folder contains ten or more file units with the same secondary or tertiary designation, a separate folder should be prepared for the material.

File designations may be typed directly on the folder tabs if a long-carriage typewriter is available. If such a typewriter is not available, gummed labels may be used. In either case the file designations (whether typed directly on folders or labels) for any primary or secondary subjects contained in the File Classification Guide should be placed uniformly on the folder tab beginning one-half inch from the left. Labels or file designations for case or project files established within the Subject File, should be placed in the center of the folder. See Exhibit E, for an illustration of the correct method of preparing and placing file designations on folders.

(2) Guides

Pressboard Guides, with metal angular tabs, one-third cut, should be used in the Subject Files. Tabs will be used in the following manner: SECOND position for all primary subjects; and THIRD position for secondary subjects. See Exhibit E, for illustration of proper arrangement of guides and the correct method of writing file designations on guide inserts.

(3) Arrangement Within the File Cabinets

Folders and guides should be arranged in the file drawer in the exact sequence in which the primary and secondary subjects appear in the File Classification Guide, starting from the front of the drawer, with the guides preceding the related folders. The sequence of the drawers should be from top to bottom of the cabinet.

b. CASE OR PROJECT FILES

Kraft folders, 11-point weight, square-cut, reinforced tabs, with fasteners may be used for case or project files, but their arrangement may vary according to types. Case or project files may be established within the Subject Files or physically separated depending upon the type and specific reference needs of the organizational element.

c. ALPHABETICAL NAME INDEX

(1) Folders and Guides

The same type of folder and guide described for use in the Subject Files should be used for the Alphabetical Name Index. Alphabetical captions may be typed directly on the folders, or labels may be used if a suitable typewriter with large type is not available for typing on the folder. If it is difficult to determine in advance how large the index will be, it is advisable to start first with a folder for each letter of the alphabet and make folders for subdivisions of these letters as the file grows. Special folders for common names, such as "Smith," "Brown," "Adams," etc., and names of organizations or individuals with which the organization has frequent correspondence may be made as required.

(2) Rules for Alphabetic Filing

Exhibit F, is a complete set of rules for alphabetic filing. All persons having the responsibility for filing records should thoroughly familiarize themselves with these rules, so that, regardless of who does the filing there will be consistency in the arrangement of the index reference.

13. PLACING MATERIAL IN THE FILES

After material to be filed has been classified and marked for filing, the papers should be segregated as to types of files preparatory to actually placing them in the files. For example, Subject File material should be arranged alphabetically by the primary subject categories appearing on the documents. Index references for the Alphabetical Name Index should be arranged in alphabetical order before proceeding with the filing operation.

a. ARRANGEMENT WITHIN THE FOLDER

When filing the material, place each assembly within the

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

25X1

~~RECORDS~~

proper folder with the left edge of the papers down. Units of material for filing should be arranged in the folder in chronological order with the latest date forward, unless a different arrangement will facilitate its use. All material should be filed loose in the folders except for case or project material which should be fastened to the folder.

Folders should not be overfilled. Three-quarters of an inch is the normal capacity of a folder. When the capacity of the folder has been reached, additional material on the same subject or case should be placed in another folder and arranged with the folder containing the more current records in front. The inclusive dates of the material should be shown on the tab of each of the earlier folders in this manner:

1 January 195⁹~~4~~ - 31 March 195⁹~~4~~

When the new folder is started, the beginning date should be indicated on the tab in this manner: <

1 April 5⁹~~4~~ -

b. BREAKING DOWN VOLUMINOUS CASE OR PROJECT FILES

The amount of material accumulating in connection with a single case or project may become too voluminous for filing in one folder. Rather than file the papers pertaining to the project or case in two or more folders, chronologically, the reference use of the material comprising the complete case may be facilitated by dividing the material into several action phases of the case and filing it in separate folders under the project or case designation. A voluminous single project requires too many individual folders to afford easy reference to the material if filed in straight chronological order from the date of the first document to the latest.

14. FILE "CUT-OFF" PERIODS AND RETIREMENT

The periodic termination of filing in a series of records at a predetermined time and the starting of a new series of records of the same type with current material is termed a "cut-off" procedure. The purpose of applying a cut-off procedure is to

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

25X1

~~HANDBOOK~~

~~RECORDS~~

~~16 December 1974~~

facilitate retirement of the older records. To identify the cut-off period the filing year should be entered on the right side of the folder tab. (See Exhibit ^{B.}_{C.E.})

Cut-off periods, such as "1 year of accumulation," "Remove from current file upon completion of transaction," should be established for each file series in order to prevent the accumulation of files beyond the actual current needs. The cut-off files may then be retained for an established holding period before retirement to the Records Center. During this holding period, material from the cut-off file(s) which becomes necessary for current operations may be brought forward and interfiled with the material in the current file.

After expiration of the established holding period, the remaining cut-off portion of the file should be transferred to the Records Center. When material is withdrawn from the cut-off portion of a file for continued action, ~~Form No. 36-151~~, ^{Form No. 232} Correspondence Continuity Reference, should be placed in the cut-off file. This will identify the material brought forward and indicate the filing location in the current file.

The above cut-off and retirement procedure is prescribed in order that office space and equipment requirements will be held to a minimum.

Approved Records Control Schedules, Form No. 139, provide specific authority for control and disposition of each type of record. Information concerning these Schedules may be obtained from your Records Officer or the Records Management Staff.

SECTION VI

FINDING AND CHARGING-OUT THE RECORDS

15. GENERAL

The primary purpose of any filing system is to provide an orderly method of arranging and putting documents away so that they may be produced quickly when needed. Therefore, the successful operation of any system depends upon the ability to locate records promptly. In this connection, the following procedures and techniques are given, which if followed by the searcher, will contribute to the efficient operation of the file system.

16. FINDING THE RECORDS

a. RECEIVING THE REQUEST

The person receiving the request for the file should endeavor to obtain as much information as possible from the requester to enable the searcher to identify the needed record. The amount of information required to locate a specific file will depend upon the type of file requested. For most general correspondence files the subject matter and date of the material is most important. However, the name of any individuals, companies, organizations, agencies, etc., identified with the correspondence will assist in making the search.

b. MAKING THE SEARCH

As a general rule, material in the Subject File may be located by going directly to that file, if the requester has supplied adequate information regarding the subject of the material. If the searcher is not sure of the file designation by which the records may be found, he should consult the File Classification Guide before going to the file. If only name references are given, or if the subject information is not adequate, the searcher should refer to the Alphabetical Name Index (if one is being used) to determine the location of the record in the subject file.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

25X1

~~HANDBOOK~~

~~RECORDS~~

~~16 December 1954~~

25X1

Because of the numerous types of project or case files, and since they are more easily identified and located than general subject material, no specific suggestions are given concerning the searching for such records.

If the material requested cannot be found in the files, a search should be made of any unfiled records.

17. CHARGING-OUT THE RECORDS

To ensure proper use of records, to prevent their loss and misplacement and to keep informed at all times of the location of records, it is necessary to maintain control of all material withdrawn from the files. This control is accomplished through a charge-out system. Individuals to whom records have been charged should be held responsible for their custody and prompt return after the records have served their purpose.

a. REMOVING INDIVIDUAL RECORDS FROM THE SUBJECT FILE

Form No. 36-271 (to be redesignated as Form No. 225), File Backing Sheet, should be attached to records removed from this file. These File Backing Sheets will provide a substantial base, protect the record(s) and distinguish the material from other papers. This form has a distinctive blue color and measures 8" x 11 1/2". (See Exhibit I.)

Form No. 36-270 (to be redesignated as Form No. 224), Correspondence Charge-Out (see Exhibit G), should be filled in and placed in the folder in an upright position in the exact location from which the record(s) were removed.

Upon return of the charged record(s), Form No. 36-270, Correspondence Charge-Out, should be removed and canceled and the record together with Form No. 36-271, File Backing Sheet, attached should be placed in the file.

b. REMOVING CASE FILES

Case files are always charged out in their entirety. Entire folders are removed and delivered to the requester. Upon such removal, fill in Form No. 36-152 (to be redesignated as Form No. 119), Case File Charge-Out Card,

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

25X1

~~HANDBOOK~~

~~RECORDS~~

as shown in Exhibit H, and file in an upright position in the exact place from which the folder was removed. When this charged folder is returned to the files, the Charge-Out Card is canceled and placed horizontally in the folder. This will eliminate the necessity of preparing a new Charge-Out Card each time the same case file is withdrawn.

c. CHECKING THE FILES FOR CHARGED RECORDS

The files should be inspected regularly to ensure the return of charged records. The charge-out forms when placed in an upright position are taller than other material in the files and can be distinguished readily by a casual inspection. When such inspections reveal that material has not been returned, assure that the material is still in use.

RULES FOR ALPHABETIC FILING

There are three steps in alphabetic name filing:

1. Determine the indexing form of the name--files as written, surname transposed, articles to be disregarded, etc.
2. Determine the filing units in the name.
3. Consider the filing units in turn, determining the arrangement of the material in strict alphabetic order.

Some of the rules for alphabetic filing, therefore, are concerned with determining the filing order of the name; some with the determination of filing units; and others with the alphabetic arrangement of those units.

1. In filing by names of individuals the surname is the first unit, the first name or initial is the second unit, the second name or initial is the third unit, and so on for any additional names or initials the person may have.

A fundamental rule of filing is "nothing comes before something." Thus a surname without given name or initial precedes the same surname with a given name or initial; also a surname with a given name precedes the same surname and same given name with an initial.

| Name as Written | Indexing Order | | | |
|----------------------|----------------|---------|--------|--------|
| | Unit 1 | Unit 2 | Unit 3 | Unit 4 |
| Richard Johnson | Johnson | Richard | | |
| Jones | Jones | J. | A. | |
| J. Jones | Jones | J. | Allen | |
| J. A. Jones | Jones | J. | | |
| J. Allen Jones | Jones | James | | |
| James Jones | Jones | James | A. | |
| James A. Jones | Jones | James | Abbott | |
| James Abbott Jones | Jones | James | Allen | K. |
| James Allen K. Jones | Jones | James | K. | |
| Ernest K. Jordan | Jordan | Ernest | | |

This example illustrates the alphabetic arrangement considering first the first units, then when the first units are the same, the second units are considered; when the second units are also the same, the third unit is considered, etc. However, where it is known that the material is on the same individual whether written with initials or given names, it is filed together. Thus, if J. Jones, J. A. Jones, and James A. Jones is the same individual, material is filed together under his most common method of writing his name. The usual methods for writing the name is

|------------------|
| First given name |
| Middle initial |
| Surname |

2. Prefixes such as d', D', de, De, De La, di, du, Fitz, La, Le, M', Mac, Mc, O', Van, Von, Van der, Von der, are considered as part of either the given name or surname to which they are prefixed, and are arranged in strict alphabetical order.

3. Abbreviations of names are filed as though spelled in full.

| Name as Written | Filing Order | |
|-----------------|--------------|----------|
| | Unit 1 | Unit 2 |
| Wm. Jones | Jones | William |
| Jas. Miller | Miller | James |
| Chas. Smith | Smith | Charles |
| Theo. Williams | Williams | Theodore |
| Jno. Young | Young | John |

4. The abbreviation for Saint, St., is filed as though spelled out.

| | | |
|-------------------------|-------|----------------------------|
| St. Louis Athletic Club | Filed | Saint Louis Athletic Club. |
|-------------------------|-------|----------------------------|

5. Titles such as Dr., Mrs., Miss., Prof., Col., Director, Supt., and abbreviations, such as Jr., Sr., 2nd, may be placed in parentheses after the name, but are disregarded in filing. However, if there are two names in which the surname and given names are identical except that one is Jr. and the other Sr., these designations are considered in filing. Foreign and religious titles, such as, Duke of Argyll, Sister Mary, etc., are filed as written.

Example: Jones, J. A. (Dr.)

6. The legal name of a married woman, where known, is used for filing purposes rather than her husband's name. Mrs. is placed in parentheses after the name, but is not considered in filing.

| Correct File | | Incorrect File | |
|-----------------------------|---------|----------------------|--|
| Mary Elizabeth Brown (Mrs.) | | J. E. Brown (Mrs.) | |
| Mary J. Brown (Mrs.) | and not | John E. Brown (Mrs.) | |
| Mary Jones Brown (Mrs.) | | | |

7. When the full names of two or more individuals are identical, they may be identified and arranged according to age, color, sex, etc. If these factors are unknown, they are arranged by the alphabetic order of the cities in the addresses.
8. Names of firms and institutions are filed alphabetically as written when they do not contain the full name of an individual.

| Jones Foundry Company | Filing Order | | |
|-----------------------|--------------|---------|---------|
| | Unit 1 | Unit 2 | Unit 3 |
| | Jones | Foundry | Company |

9. Firm names or titles of institutions containing the full name of an individual are filed in the following order:

- Surname
- Given names or initials
- Remainder of firm name or title

| | Filing Order | | | | |
|--------------------------------|--------------|----------|---------------|---------|---------|
| | Unit 1 | Unit 2 | Unit 3 | Unit 4 | Unit 5 |
| Marshall Field and Company | Field | Marshall | (and) Company | | |
| James A. Jones Foundry Company | Jones | James | A. | Foundry | Company |

When it is not clear whether the names are the given name and surname of a single individual or the surnames of two individuals, the material is filed as though the names were of two persons, and cross-referenced under the second name.

RULES FOR ALPHABETIC FILING-Continued

- 27. When the name of a city is part of the name of a firm or other organization, not a part of the city government, the name is filed as written.

Cincinnati Post
 Cincinnati Women's Club
 Knoxville Automobile Club

By use of rules 26 and 27 the State name affords the means of distinguishing between official municipal correspondence, correspondence with or about municipal departments or municipally owned and operated organizations and enterprises, and correspondence with commercial organizations or firms having municipal names.

In rare instances where there are two or more cities by the same name but in different States, material must be arranged in alphabetical order by States:

Bowling Green, Kentucky, Automobile Club
 Bowling Green, Ohio, Automobile Club

- 28. Material regarding banking institutions is filed first by the name of the city in which the bank is located, then by name of bank, with State at end of title in parentheses. If the city name is embodied in the name of the bank at the beginning, it is not repeated.

- 29. Newspapers which do not have as part of their name the name of the city in which they are published are filed the same as other commercial organizations. For example, The Daily Mirror is filed under D, although it is a New York newspaper. The words New York are not carried as part of the name of this newspaper. Similarly, this applies to all other such newspapers where the name of the city is not actually a part of the newspaper's name.

SUBJECT INDEX

The following "SUBJECT INDEX" is very similar to the index found in most textbooks. It is an alphabetical listing of the specific subjective titles, key words and terms synonymous to those which are categorically arranged in the Subject List.

This "SUBJECT INDEX" is maintained on punch cards. It is intended to expand and amend the Subject Index to include additions and/or modifications that may arise from use of the File Classification Guide in various offices.

Offices adding approved subdivisions to the Subject List provided in the "File Classification Guide" may find it desirable to include these subjects, terms, etc. in their proper place in the subject index. This may be accomplished by contacting the Records Management Staff through the Area-Records Officer concerned where arrangements will be made for mechanical preparation of the Index.

HOW TO INSTALL THE AGENCY SUBJECT-NUMERIC FILING SYSTEM

Reference: Handbook For Subject Filing

- STAT
1. First, glance over the material in your present file (or simply check the folder labels) and note which of the 31 subjects on page 33 of reference (a) apply. The alphabetical index beginning on page 72 will also help. Make up a file guide for each applicable subject. Arrange these guides alphabetically in an empty drawer or other vacant work space. A couple of boxes will do temporarily if cabinet space is tight.
 2. Next, separate current files from your non-current records. ("Current" should be interpreted to mean "needed in the conduct of current business, regardless of the date of the document." However, in most cases current files will be those for the current year.) Simply take one folder at a time, note its contents and the date of the material. If a folder contains both current and non-current material, don't "break" the folder, transfer the entire folder to the new file you're setting up. Place each folder behind the primary guide that best identifies the contents of the folder (e.g. Personnel, Liaison, Security, etc.). Again you may wish to refer to the alphabetical index for guidance. Folder by folder work your way through the entire file. Be sure to write the primary classification on each folder in pencil to ensure its proper return should it be charged out.
 3. Now you're in business. You've separated your active files from the bulk of your inactive records. You've also grouped related material together. In all probability you've found folders you never knew existed. You may also find duplicate documents filed in separate folders, or folders that have but one or two papers. Your next step then is to set up the necessary folders to refine your system.

To do this, first determine the secondary, and if necessary, the tertiary classification of each piece of current material behind a primary guide. Examine each folder. Often all of the material in one folder can be classified under one secondary classification such as "Attendance and Absence" which is a secondary heading under the primary, "PERSONNEL." In this case the entire folder can be classified. However, if a folder contains miscellaneous papers, for example on personnel matters, you'll need to classify each paper.

Make up the necessary folders that the volume and the number of secondary or tertiary subjects require. For instance, if the record volume is small, make a folder only for the primary subject, even though you may have classified some papers according to a secondary or tertiary category. Later, if the primary folder becomes full (20-30 pieces), you can set up secondary folders. Place the current material in the new folders, and transfer the balance of any noncurrent material back to the noncurrent file.

4. Continue the above process in succession for each subject category until you've reworked your entire file. You'll find that this can be done in spare moments without disrupting the orderliness of your files.
