Mr. Hanson Baldwin
NEW YORK TIMES
229 West 43 Street
New York, New York

Dear Hanson:

When I read your articles on the study of the possibility of combining the intelligence elements of the military establishments, I noted that you referred to the Intelligence Advisory Committee. This has been out of business for a long, long, time.

The United States Intelligence Board of ten members replaced it. I am enclosing a reference to it in the attached brief history of CIA and also a list of the membership which we made public in response to press inquiries sometime ago. The NEW YORK TIMES carried the list

Sorry I can't be in the office at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning when you come to see the Director. Best wishes to you and to your family.

Sincerely,

Stanley J. Grogan
Assistant to the Director
