

THE PERISCOPE

MIAMI—Lawyer James B. Donovan had one ace-in-the-hole that he never had to use while dickering with Fidel Castro for the prisoner-release. It was 50 million pounds of U.S.-owned surplus dried milk, which JFK had authorized Donovan to offer, if needed, to clinch the deal.

CPYRGHT