

MYSTIFIED MOUNTIES — An official of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police says U.S. intelligence agencies never told him anything about Erik Heine, the Canadian resident accused by the CIA of being a Soviet spy. "... All I know about it is what I've read in the newspapers," said the Mounties' liaison officer in Washington.