CIA INVESTIGATION

NEWSCASTER: "The Central Intelligence Agency investigating one of its experts in clandestine affairs. Classified documents were found in his Georgetown home by another CIA man who was looking for a place to live. The expert, Hans B. Tofte, came under investigation after the house hunter and a CIA security man returned to Tofte's home and recovered the document.

"Tofte says after the second visit he was missing some $20,000 in jewelry belonging to his wife.

"Tofte told newsmen the CIA had staged a silly cloak and dagger raid on his home, and he's outraged."
