Mr. Dodd and the CIA

Despite the heavy play given by television, radio and the press to the letter from the director of the CIA concerning Senator Dodd, there was nothing in it that is pertinent to the charge that the senator went to Europe on behalf of General Klein.

The letter says that before Mr. Dodd left for Europe he and a member of his staff asked for whatever information the CIA could give him concerning Bogdan Stashinskiy and the Soviet murder-espionage apparatus in Europe. After his return, he made a similar second request.

That's all.
There is no statement or even a hint that the senator was doing any kind of work for the CIA. There is no disclaimer of any special interest of General Klein he might have been serving. The letter supports neither the senator's position nor that of his accusers.
