

JUL 29 1966

STATINTL

COPYRIGHT

Members of the Central Intelligence Agency are supposedly discreet about their personal views. Nevertheless, the head of the C.I.A., Richard Helms, came in for some sharp Congressional criticism because of a letter he had written to a St. Louis newspaper praising an editorial that denounced Senator J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. [1:6-7.]