1. The report which [redacted] uncovered on his trip to [redacted] and which we are not getting, is a consolidated report of monthly planned and actual production in [redacted] 25X1A6a25X1A
This material is consolidated on a quarterly basis by the Army European Command, G-2. Army collection units in [redacted] by directive, place a low priority on general economic and industrial information. The Army interrogation centers limit collection to manpower, communication and transportation, thus excluding industrial production data.

3. Another type of information which we are not getting is Soviet and German publications, many of which contain valuable economic and statistical data. [redacted] does not provide for this type of collection.

4. The main purpose of the ORR team, as I understand it, is not to collect information but to provide specialized guidance to the presently constituted collecting units on economic intelligence requirements.
