1. I met with [REDACTED] Jim Garrison, [REDACTED] to discuss the division of responsibility between the Offices of Security and Logistics for safety. I believe that our old regulations on this subject may be outmoded since they ^{gave} the responsibility to the Office of Security. The shipment of explosives, etc., has long since outgrown the capability of one or two safety men to inspect them. I believe strongly, therefore, that the Office of Security should have full staff responsibility; but the Office of Logistics or whatever component is engaged in the shipment of explosives must accept the full line responsibility. I have requested that the regulations be redrafted along these lines.

2. I took General Carter to the Static Display, and he seemed very pleased with the progress made to date.
