5 July 1963

1. With Jim Garrison and [redacted] I visited the Census Bureau at Suitland, Maryland, and observed the [redacted] typing machine in operation. It is a combination of an IBM electric typewriter (modified) and a flexowriter and uses the original teletype tape to produce stencils. This has great promise and, if successful, will eliminate 75 per cent of the [redacted] typing and at the same time double or triple the speed of production.

3. [redacted] telephoned to request that I meet with John Bross at noon on Monday, 8 July, to discuss our budget projection. He will try to get some information to me before that time which might help in the discussions.

4. I talked with Jack Earman about the appointment of a CIA Employment Policy Officer, and he suggested [redacted] who will get in touch with me sometime Monday, 8 July, to discuss the matter further.

5. I discussed the MKDELTA aspects of Project MKULTRA with Jack Earman and urged him to have a talk with Dr. Tietjen on this subject before he closes his TSD report of inspection. He assured me that he would do this.

6. [redacted] was in to say good-by. He is leaving with a generally good taste in his mouth but said that he had been disappointed in some respects. He asked me if I could tell him why he was never considered for any job other than that in the Office of the Inspector General. He said that he didn't mind this type of thing for a while, but he felt that 7 1/2 years was too long and was disappointed in that he had never been used in any other capacity. He apologized for asking me this question. I told him that I would be glad to answer it if I could but it was a fact that I could not. (I had assumed that he was hired to be in the Inspector General's office and, in all honesty, it had never occurred to me that he even wanted to have other assignments.) I told him that, lest he feel think this helped very much. He said that he would be interested at some time in the future in contract employment if any came along. I told him that I would certainly keep this in mind and, if we had any requirements for his services, I would get in touch with him.
