10 July 1964

1. I agreed with Larry Houston that DD/S would accept the responsibility for notifying in low key both the Staff Director of the Joint Committee on Printing and the Public Printer of our plans to construct a new printing building at Langley. I asked [redacted] to do this and to furnish the General Counsel and me a memorandum of their conversations.

2. Larry Houston spoke to me about the status of our overtime policy. I told him that I realize the ball is in my court on this and said that I thought I would simply have to talk with Mr. Kirkpatrick and/or General Carter sometime very soon. The problem grows out of a court ruling to the effect that employees who work overtime must be compensated whether they are directed to work overtime or do it on a voluntary basis. If anyone should contest our present policy, presumably it could be found illegal by the courts.

3. [redacted] was in to see me about what he might tell a Washington investor for whom his wife works about CIA's interest in 400,000 square feet of commercial office space. (He owns some property in Rosslyn and would like to develop it to meet our requirements.) I told Ted that we have no immediate requirements but that within the next couple years we would need additional space to accommodate those personnel now housed in the [redacted] Building and certain temporary buildings which are scheduled for destruction. I also said that we were trying to bring some pressure on GSA now to provide for this contingency and that I had no objection to his wife's telling her boss this.

6. Allen Dulles called to inquire about the progress we were making in finding a secretary for him. I suggested [redacted] but also agreed to look further. (After conferring with [redacted] I called Mr. Dulles on 14 July to tell him that [redacted] an Office of Research and Reports employee and wife of [redacted] M, is very interested in this job. Mr. Dulles seemed very interested in her and undertook to get in touch with [redacted] to proceed with the matter. We agreed that there was nothing more for me to do unless he calls again.)
