3. The special flight with the additional communication equipment arrived in [REDACTED] the same day as I, 3 December. The equipment was taken to the new location [REDACTED]. After opening all the boxes, it was determined that certain articles that were supposed to be in the shipment were not there. The main items which were necessary to start the install-

8. In conclusion, the majority of the installation [redacted] is now completed. Minor details of the changes that still should be accomplished after my departure were: (1) attaching A.C. wiring to the work benches; (2) dressing up the coaxial cable runs and, although the equipment is performing properly; (3) a good general preventive maintenance check on the equipment.

9. I would like to express my appreciation for the assistance of the following persons who devoted a considerable amount of time and effort on the installation with me: Messrs. [redacted] and [redacted]
