CIA - TODAY AND TOMORROW

The Office of Training will present the third running of "CIA Today and Tomorrow," in the Headquarters Auditorium on 25, 26, 27 September 1973.

The main objective of the course is to inform the participants about recent developments and future programs in the Agency and the Intelligence Community. The Office of Training feels this course would be particularly helpful for those who have recently returned from overseas assignments; for those who have not attended any course dealing with Agency-wide activities within the past five years; and for employees whose present or proposed duties require a broader knowledge of Agency activities. Although designed primarily for professional employees, others will be admitted, on a space available basis, upon recommendation of their supervisors.

Included in the course content will be such topics as:

1. CIA's Role in the Intelligence Community
2. Issues Confronting the Directorates
3. The Agency's Role in Combating the International Drug Problem
4. CIA Support of U. S. International Economic Policy
5. How Can the Intelligence Apparatus be Used in Countering Terrorism?
6. Current and Prospective Agency Management Policies and Problems
