I have just discussed with the Chief of the Wire Service Section the performance to date of [redacted]. The Chief of the Wire Service Section and the Chief of the Editorial Division have informed me that [redacted] is apparently very interested in his work, that his copy is always in good shape, that he appears at this time to show as much aptitude and ability for this work as the average CAF-5 that we have taken on without previous editorial training, and that he may possibly be a little better than average.
