

CONFIDENTIAL

FUNCTIONS OF INVESTIGATIONS SECTION

Will be responsible for the investigation and clearance of all personnel being processed for assignment to the Central Intelligence Group, except those individuals who are to be assigned to the Office of Special Operations. This Section will not actually make investigations, but will review all personal history statements to determine the (eligibility of all applicants) and make requests for investigation to the proper investigative agency. If a study of the personal history statement reveals the possibility that a report of a previous investigation might exist, this Section will initiate action to obtain a copy of this report through its Liaison Unit.

After receipt of the report of investigation, this Section will make a study of the case and make a recommendation of security approval or disapproval to the Chief, Security Division.

This Section will also be responsible for name checks and company checks as required by Contacts Branch, Office of Operations, and name checks as required in the clearance of all applicants for duty in the Central Intelligence Group other than the Office of Special Operations.
