STATOTHR

This is a delayed note to express my deep appreciation to you for your trip down on a terrible day.

Not only do I want to express my appreciation and tell you that I will be following this up with you in the very near future, but I also want to ask you to be good enough to send me your expenses so that appropriate reimbursement can be made at once. I don't want you to object to this because this is going to be routine with you and I definitely insist that we handle the out-of-pocket costs.

Many thanks again for your magnificent cooperation which I have reported to the boss.

Kindest regards,

Walter Reid Wolf
Deputy Director
