I have noted the attached recommendation for the promotion of [REDACTED] together with [REDACTED] memorandum on the subject and am inclined to agree with the comments which Rex has made. I, personally, saw some of the results of Hugh's work last Fall on my trip to the Far East, and from all reports---the latest being from General Cabell's party---he has continued to perform in a conspicuously outstanding manner. I recognize that probably he is not strong on paperwork; however, I feel very strongly that we cannot fail to reward an individual for an outstanding performance in an area where operations are most complicated and where we are all having difficulty getting personnel to accept assignments. (I wonder how many members of your Career Service Board would go to [REDACTED]

I fail to see how we can let [REDACTED]'s performance go unrewarded and would appreciate it if you would reconsider this matter.
