Dear Col. White:

My disability retirement has been approved by the Civil Service and my resignation from the Agency becomes effective at the end of this month.

Since the expected pension (about $50 a week) is obviously insufficient to support a wife and 2 children, and since I have been assured of clearance for contract work, I wonder if it would be possible for me to get some of the Russian translation work (unclassified)

My own inquiries into the matter did not yield any information at all. I feel, however, that a little assist from someone in a position to do so would help a great deal. So if you can do anything to help me get even a trickle of the voluminous outflow of material (for part-time work at home), it would alleviate hardship and would be greatly appreciated.

After spending about half of my productive life in government service, I find it a bit difficult to begin life from scratch, particularly as an invalid.

Sincerely,

25X1A9a

I have discussed this with Sheff Edwards and we see no objection to using  on unclassified translation work. However, he should not become an employee of either the Agency or one of its proprietaries. I have told  only that I thought we could help him and that someone would get in touch with him within a few days.
