1. Review the Support Directorate information processing applications and requirements in sufficient depth to permit an assessment of the resources we will need to satisfy our requirements in the long term and recommend answers to such questions as:
  - a. How many people will we need?
  - b. What kinds of skills should we be seeking and in what mix?
  - c. What qualifications and training should we look for? Should we offer?
  - d. What is a reasonable pattern of career progression for people in this field to expect?
  - e. How would you define the information processing personnel management problem in the Support Directorate?
  - f. What have we overlooked that should be considered?
2. Furnish such technical advice and guidance to the SIPS Task Force as may be requested.
