2. [REDACTED], DTR at NSA concerning our possible use of one of their training sites. [REDACTED] promises an early decision on our request, but so far no decision has been communicated to us.

3. What should be a significant step forward in building maintenance, the Office of Security has agreed to a change in clearance procedures for char force personnel employed by Arlington Towers. They have agreed to give 24-hour service on new char force employees and to permit the char force supervisor to act as an escort while the men are working in the building. This should greatly increase the capability of the char force to keep the building reasonably clean.

4. Parking permits for Arlington Towers are being issued this week to staff and students. The police are leaving the issuance of the permits to LTS with the understanding that we will issue only to staff and students. We have had several inquiries from Key Building personnel asking about the possibility of their getting permits. All have been refused since it would violate our agreement with the police and may jeopardize our own parking privileges.

The fire hazards have been and continue to be of concern due to the lack of adequate water for such emergencies. 5000 gallons certainly wouldn't last long but it should be better than none.

11. During the past few weeks LTS has started classes and received requests for instruction in three of the Scandinavian languages. Beginners classes have been started for 5 students in Swedish and 2 students in Norwegian and a request has also been received for instruction in Icelandic. This is a considerable upsurge of activity in languages where we have had a dearth of requirements during the past 5 years.
