2. Committee II of the [REDACTED] Review Board devoted its efforts exclusively to an examination of U. S. Government training efforts in this field. Committee II's report to General [REDACTED] identified shortcomings in the training field and presented recommendations for improvement. In his report to the President, based largely on the reports of the committees he established, [REDACTED] spoke of inadequacies in the U. S. training effort.

3. It is apparent that the SIG is going to address its attention to the subject of training, but the exact manner in which this attention will be manifested is not yet apparent. At the least, each participating department and agency will be requested to examine the [REDACTED] Committee II Report and to implement internally those recommendations which are applicable. Anticipating this action, the CIA Special Group Officer received ADDP authority to request the Director of Training to undertake the necessary action within CIA. To assist in this task copies of the following documents are provided herewith for your information and use:
