1. Reference your correspondence 18 October 1963 for our consent over the conflict clause of subject contract to your performance of professional services for [redacted] of Los Angeles, California.

25X1A

2. You will recall our discussion of this subject at the time of the initiation of this contact. Because of the special nature of your services and since you will be in contact with the contractor, it is important that you not be employed at the same time by any of those contractors. At present we have a contract with [redacted] while we do not know what the future will bring, it is perfectly possible that this contract will be extended on the other contracts that that company will eventuate.

25X1A

3. We do not believe that your employment by [redacted] be consistent with the purpose of our contract and we, consequently, feel that we must ask you to forego such a connection while our contract is in existence.

25X1A

25X1A

4. Will you be good enough to advise us of your decision in this matter.
