comments concerning

1. Concur with the comments contained in paragraph 2 of reference (a).

2. This evaluation, however, is based on coverage of Cuban shipping and does not necessarily apply to all reconnaissance photography. Recent reports from other sources indicate that aerial reconnaissance color film is outstanding and shows great promise. With technical advancement in color photography in the future, it is reasonable to expect improved analyses from color prints. Therefore, continued evaluation of color film for photographic interpretation is required and Photo Interpretation personnel should develop as great a color analysis capability as possible.
