MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Imagery Exploitation Group, NPIC

SUBJECT : ACDA Briefings

1. [] of ACDA has requested that we give the following briefings to two groups of ACDA officers (a dozen or so each):

a. Photo-interpretation of strategic targets (meaning strategic weapons systems -- offensive and defensive).

- [] requests that we devote about three hours to this group, including about two hours on offensive and one hour on defensive.

- He asks that we show the group how we go about PI work on such targets, the visible details of the systems -- silos, silo doors, security gates and fences, power houses, antenna, etc., etc., and, illustrate many of these details with appropriate models as well as photos.

b. Photo-interpretation of tactical forces, installation and equipment.

- Ditto above.

2. [] requests that we present the "strategic targets" briefing as soon as we can. When can you be ready? (Answer Monday, 1 June.)

3. The "tactical forces" briefing can be later -- name a leisurely date when you can be ready.

4. Those ACDA officers of these two groups who have not had a general orientation briefing on NPIC and photo reconnaissance will receive same from me prior to your getting them for the above briefing.

5. I am in touch with Director, OSR, on the question of whether or not OSR and other officers from Langley should be present to assist in any discussions that develop.

[redacted] called today and thanked us for the briefing given to [redacted]. He asked if it would be possible to give another briefing for 15 - 20 ACDA professionals who work under [redacted]. Included would be individuals who work in two areas - the strategic threat area and the tactical (deployed forces) area. All would be [redacted] cleared. An ACL orientation plus some follow-on briefings in IEG in PI applications in the strategic and tactical areas is what Chuck is shooting for.

I made no commitments to Chuck and told him I would check back with him.

DRAFT -- ADVANCE COPY

MEMORANDUM

TO: CIA - [redacted]

SUBJECT: Briefing at NPIC

In connection with a consideration of verification aspects for possible arms control agreements in both the SALT and MBFR areas, it would be extremely useful if some of our ACDA officers could become more familiar with the source materials, analysis procedures, and products of the National Photographic Interpretation Center (NPIC).

I would greatly appreciate it, therefore, if a series of briefings at NPIC could be arranged for this purpose in the immediate future. The subject areas which appear to us to be most useful would be:

1. a general orientation briefing concerning the types of photographs used and their exploitation;
2. strategic target interpretation, including demonstration of some of the NPIC models of these targets;
3. interpretation of tactical forces, installations, and equipment;
4. an informal discussion of future imagery exploitation possibilities and problems.

Perhaps these subjects should be covered in separate sessions, in order that attendance can be limited to those ACDA personnel with a need-to-know in each case.
