REFERENCE: Book Dispatch No. 4167, 31 January 1964

1. Reference book dispatch outlined policy on the employment of servants in general and included the following specific reference to the employment of guards for personal quarters overseas:

"The protection of personnel overseas and their property is the responsibility of the host government [redacted] KUBARK will normally follow the practices of [redacted] in this regard. Employment of guards for personal quarters at KUBARK expense will be authorized only if this is established ODYOKE practice in the area. 2. Headquarters has recently completed a study of reports from the field that attest to the exceptionally high incidence of housebreaking and burglary which is prevalent in many areas. This condition, when coupled with the heavy requirement for night absences from the home which our activities place upon our overseas personnel, creates a most serious problem of security for dependents and property of our personnel and warrants our authorizing night watchman service at selected posts.

3. Therefore, paragraph 3.(b) of reference book dispatch which pertained to the employment of guards is hereby replaced by the following:

"The protection of personnel overseas and their property is the responsibility of the host government and [redacted] KUBARK will normally follow the practices of the [redacted] reimbursement for the employment of night watchmen for personal quarters must be authorized by headquarters. The Chief of the Operating Division may authorize such reimbursement at those stations or in those individual cases where he determines that circumstances warrant the employment of night watchmen and the cover and security situation permits it. In an emergency the Chief of Station or Base may take such temporary action as he deems necessary, subject to subsequent approval by the Chief of the Operating Division."

Chiefs of Operating Divisions may apply this authority retroactively to 1 March 1964 for night watchmen payments claimed and disallowed under the policy stated in book dispatch 4167.

4. This liberalized policy is in no way intended to lessen utilization by KUBARK personnel of protective services available from either the host government or the cover organization. These bodies remain basically responsible for the protection of our personnel and property, and full advantage should be taken of any 25X1C services they offer. The authorities granted here are intended solely to permit supplemental protective services where those of the host government [redacted] [redacted] are non-existent, unavailable to our personnel, or clearly inadequate.
