Trial of Khartoum BSO Terrorists to Commence

Sudanese Government officials have confirmed a 12 June 1973 Khartoum newspaper story announcing 16 June as the starting date for the trial of the eight BSO terrorists who murdered one Belgian and two American diplomats on 2 March 1973. The trial will be held in a civilian rather than a military court. (Comment: The threat of BSO revenge operations or operations to free the terrorists probably will increase as a result of the commencement of the trial.) (UNCLASSIFIED)

Investigation of Colombian Airline Hijacking

Two judges have been named by the Colombian Government to investigate the 30 May hijacking of the Sociedad Aeronautica de Medellin (SAM) airliner, (described in the 6 June issue, page 5), the escape of the two hijackers, and also the whereabouts of a Paraguayan football player, Francisco Solano Patino, who disappeared in Pereira, the airplane's last stop before the hijacking took place. Solano Patino is reported to have said half jokingly that he would soon hijack an airplane to escape from his problems, according to news reports. The identity and nationality of the hijackers remain unknown, although the National Liberation Army, a pro-Cuban guerrilla group, has publicly claimed responsibility for the incident. Colombian authorities, however, continue to believe that the hijackers were common criminals rather than ideologically motivated.
(UNCLASSIFIED)

During the week of 3 June Charles Agnew Lockwood, British director of the Roberts Finance Company, was kidnapped at gunpoint outside his suburban Buenos Aires home by six men. Identifying themselves as members of the Trotskyite People's Revolutionary Army (ERP), the kidnappers contacted Lockwood's family and demanded a ransom of $2 million for his release. Efforts to raise the cash to pay the ransom, which is the largest ever demanded by Argentine terrorists, are being made by business associates of Lockwood. (Comment: The Roberts Finance Company is an Argentine firm which represents Morgan Guarantee International of London and Barring Brothers and Company of London.)

On 8 June, during a clandestine news conference, leaders of the ERP denied that their organization had kidnapped Lockwood or had been responsible for the blackmail threats against the Ford Motor Company, the Otis Elevator Company, or General Motors. An ERP splinter group calling itself the August 22 Command, however, has publicly claimed responsibility for extorting $1 million from the Ford Motor Company. (For further related information on terrorism in Argentina, please see pages 3 and 10 of the 6 June and 30 May issues respectively.) (UNCLASSIFIED)

Terrorism Against Foreign Businesses Continues in Argentina

During the past week, Argentine terrorists kidnapped two foreign businessmen and continue to hold two others, bombed the residences of two Fiat executives and forced still another foreign executive to quit his job. The executive of the Ford Motor Company who was the target of a 21 May People's Revolutionary Army (ERP) kidnap attempt died from his wounds. Also during the past week, the ERP publicly declared an "open war" on all companies it considers exploitative.

ERP terrorists are still holding the two businessmen whom they kidnapped earlier this month. The ERP is holding John Thompson, the chairman of the Argentine affiliate of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, for a ransom of one million dollars. The kidnapers identified themselves as members of the ERP in two phone calls to Thompson's family, according to company spokesmen. (For further details see the 22 June issue, page 6.) ERP is also believed to be holding British businessman Charles Lockwood, director of the Roberts Finance Company and chairman of the local affiliate of Britain's Acrow Steel Company, for a two million dollar ransom. (See the 20 June issue, page 6 and the 13 June issue, page 6.)

On 19 June the German-born manager of an Argentine manufacturing firm was abducted by several unidentified gunmen while he was leaving his home for work. The kidnapers have not been identified and their ransom demands are unknown.

The Argentine press reported on 25 June that Mario Baratella, the Vice President of the Italian Bank of Rio de la Plata, was kidnapped from his suburban home by unidentified gunmen over the weekend. Informed sources stated that the kidnapers were demanding a ransom of two million dollars. Members of Baratella's family have denied that he has been abducted. (Comment: According to recent press reports, some U.S. firms have published a memorandum on how businesses should deal with kidnapers. The memorandum recommends that relatives not notify the police, and keep publicity at a minimum.)

On 25 June Gianmarco Dolce, the Italian manager of the Gilera Motor Cycle Company, announced that he was resigning from the firm because of several threats on his life by the ERP. The ERP had accused Dolce of "crimes against the working people." Prior to Dolce's resignation, the homes of two Fiat Company executives were bombed on 18 June. There were no casualties and the bombers are as yet unidentified.

Also on 25 June, Argentine Ford Motor Company executive Luis Giovanelli died of wounds he received on 21 May in an unsuccessful kidnapping attempt by the ERP. (See the 23 May issue, page 8.)

Money Taken in Recent Colombian Hijacking Partly Recovered

Some $22,000 in cash and valuables has been returned by the Paraguayan Government to the Colombian airline whose plane was hijacked by two men early this month. (See 6 June issue, page 5.) The two hijackers evidently divided the $50,000 ransom they had collected, and one of the men left the plane in the northern Argentine city of Resistencia with his share and has not been heard from since. The other, a 31-year old Paraguayan, was later arrested in Asuncion, Paraguay, with the rest of the money. (UNCLASSIFIED)
