Pakistani Attempts to Hijack Swissair Jetliner

A Pakistani youth hijacked a Swissair DC-8 aircraft en route from Colombo, Sri Lanka, to Geneva on 2 December. The young man, who boarded the jetliner in Colombo armed with a toy pistol, told the pilot to fly to either Beirut or Tripoli. The pilot convinced the hijacker the aircraft was low on fuel and landed at the Karachi airport, where Pakistani authorities overpowered the youth. The hijacker's motivation is not known. Sheraton Hotel Attacked.
Leftwing university students attacked the U.S.-owned Sheraton Hotel with firebombs and rocks, causing extensive damage. No injuries or arrests were reported by the police. Police said the students came from earlier demonstrations, on the engineering school campus, against national educational policy changes. Some of the students shouted epithets against the Chilean regime. The Sheraton is operated by an ITT subsidiary, and ITT activities in Chile have received much unfavorable international publicity, but it is not clear that this was the reason for the attack. NOTES

Archbishop Capucci Sentenced by Israelis

On 9 December an Israeli court convicted the Greek Catholic Archbishop of Jerusalem, Hilarion Capucci, of smuggling arms to Fatah guerrillas in Israel, and sentenced him to 12 years in prison. The court rejected a plea that Capucci be given a suspended sentence, according to the press. He has 45 days to appeal the verdict, and there is speculation that he will be deported before completing the sentence. Greek Catholic leaders, the governments of Syria and Lebanon, and the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) have publicly criticized the sentence. The Vatican has not yet commented. A PLO spokesman stated that no effort will be spared to rescue Capucci. (Capucci's arrest, indictment and trial were reported in the issues of 28 August, 11 September and 25 September.) Private Plane Hijacked from Florida to Cuba

A lone gunman hijacked a twin-engine Piper Seneca plane in Tampa the night of 14 December and forced the pilot to fly him to Cuba, according to press stories. The plane landed in Havana at about 10:30 p.m. The hijacker, a middle-aged man using the name Robin Harrison, had chartered a single-engine aircraft from the Tampa Flying Service, but when he arrived at the airport he pulled a pistol and demanded the larger plane. The pilot, who returned to Miami on 16 December, said Cuban authorities took the hijacker into custody. They treated the pilot well, but the Tampa Flying Service was required to pay $500.00 to the Cuban government before the pilot was permitted to leave. This is the first hijacking to Cuba since the signing of a treaty in February 1973 which requires Cuba to return U.S. hijackers or put them on trial. (UNCLASSIFIED)

Air India Flight Crew Overpowers Hijacker

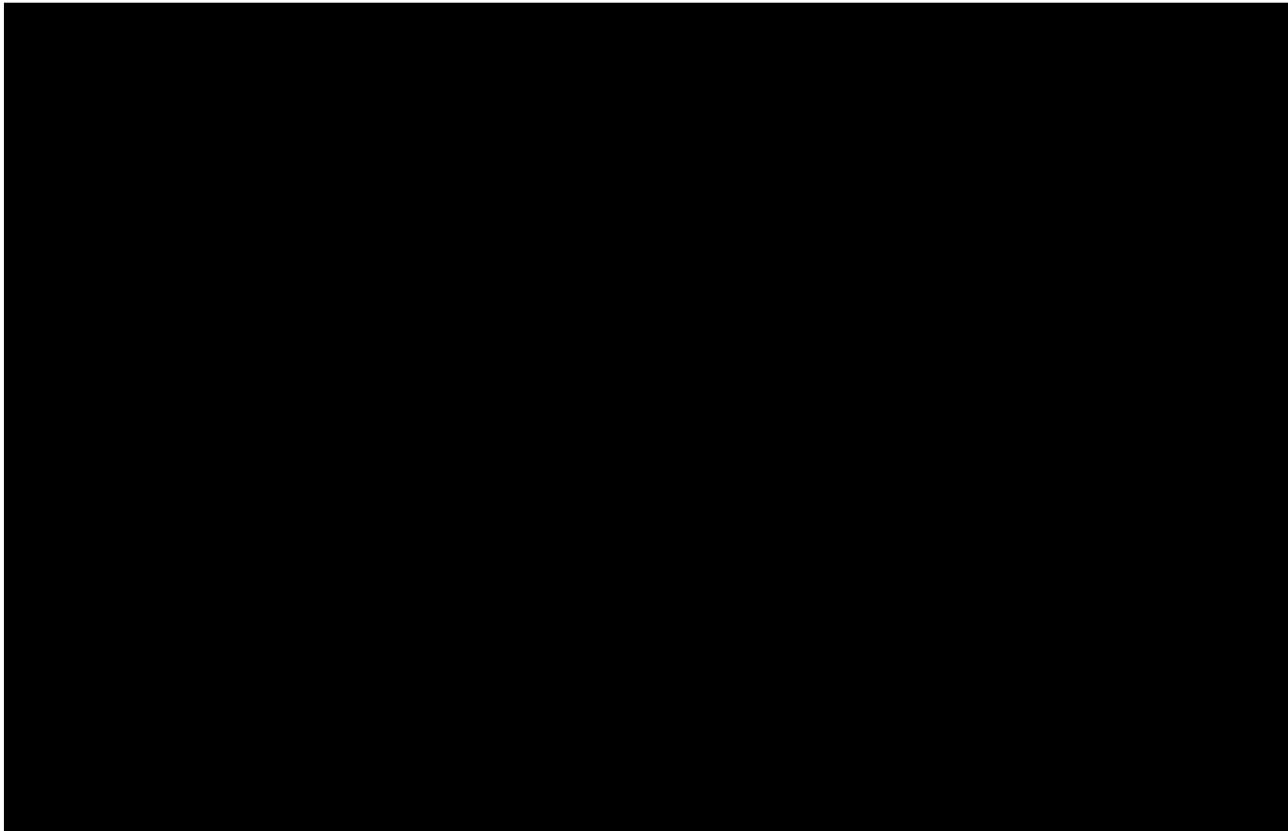

A naturalized Canadian citizen hijacked an Air India (AI) Boeing 747 jetliner with 151 passengers and 19 crew members on 25 December as the aircraft was flying over Athens on its way to Rome. The AI flight had originated in Bombay on 24 December and had scheduled stops in Beirut and Rome with New York as its final destination. According to press accounts, the hijacker entered the cabin of the aircraft armed with a small knife and demanded that the pilot land in Rome, that a pistol be delivered to him and that Italian authorities grant him passage to a destination of his choice. He also told the pilot bombs had been planted on the aircraft. The hijacker told the pilot to fly over St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome to verify the aircraft's location. At this point he told the pilot to crash into the center of the city. The copilot, flight engineer and two other crew members then jumped the hijacker and subdued him.

The man was subsequently identified as Josef Homolov of Ontario, Canada, who had immigrated from Czechoslovakia in 1968. He told Italian authorities he hijacked the plane because there were people on board who intended to rob him. Italian authorities stated Homolov was carrying $2,000 in counterfeit Canadian currency. No explosives were discovered. Homolov is being held by the Italian authorities on charges of hijacking and conspiracy to commit currency fraud. At present there is no indication that Homolov is connected with any terrorist organization. (UNCLASSIFIED)

Deportation from Israel of Two French Saboteurs

Two French women, Evelyn Barage and Marilyn (Marlene) Bardali, who were convicted by Israeli authorities in April 1971 for possession of explosives, were released and deported from Israel on 20 December. According to a Jerusalem press report, the Israeli prisons commissioner emphasized that the reduction of their sentences of 10 and 14 years was not the result of the recent visit of the French foreign minister but rather resulted from requests initiated by their families. (See the 6 November issue.) The two women, who were members of the French branch of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, and three other Europeans who have already been deported were planning acts of sabotage in several large Israeli hotels. Barage had executed the sabotage of the Gulf oil refinery in Rotterdam in March 1971 and participated in the hijacking of a Pan American jumbo jetliner in September 1970. Bardali was a suspected hijacker. (UNCLASSIFIED)

Lebanese Sentence Frenchman to Death for Aiding Israeli Commandos

On 21 December a Lebanese military court sentenced Frenchman Pierre Fernand Rongier to death on charges of spying for Israel and aiding the Israeli commandos who attacked fedayeen leaders and installations in Beirut on 10 April 1973. (See the issues of 11 and 25 April 1973.) Although Rongier denied the charges, the prosecutor said there was irrefutable evidence of Rongier's role, including the testimony of witnesses and five false passports seized from him. He is believed to have assisted in renting cars used in the Israeli attacks. Rongier was not seized at the time of the attacks, according to the Beirut press, but was arrested in July 1974 when he arrived in Beirut, ostensibly on a business trip, from Saudi Arabia. Rongier's defense lawyers said the death sentence would be appealed. (UNCLASSIFIED)

Branch of Chase Manhattan Bank in Ireland Robbed by IRA

Four gunmen and one woman, believed to be members of the Irish Republican Army (IRA), robbed the Chase Bank of Ireland at Shannon International Airport on 19 December and escaped with approximately $360,000, according to the Associated Press. Police later found a vehicle used in the robbery near a village where IRA leaders met secretly with clergymen one week before the incident. A bomb exploded in the Eastern Steamship Lines office, causing a small fire and minor damage. The company owns two cruise ships operating between Miami and the Bahamas, but the company is American-owned and has no connection with the Bahamian government. According to the FBI, the bomb appears to be different from those utilized in recent bombings by Cuban exile revolutionary organizations. It appears likely, however, that the incident is related to the recently expressed intention of the Cuban National Liberation
