Ron --

All your questions about the Trends schedule are good ones --

- . Why FOIA and Privacy Act
- . Can't we switch MAG and the DDO Panel
- . Can't we put EEO later in the week

It is my understanding that Mr. Blake asked for coverage on FOIA and the Privacy Act. You may argue that in view of all the employee notices that have come out obviously the participants should know what it's all about. I have found this is not the case. This session has proved to be a stimulating one and I recommend its continued inclusion.

The session with the MAG group was set in concrete back in October. The group could not come Thursday evening when I originally wanted it. We compromised on Wednesday.

Don't forget, all this scheduling is tentative and may be shot to pieces when the speakers I want can't come. I originally wanted EEO later in the week, toward the end of the day. [REDACTED] likes to use Thursday to prepare for his meeting with the DCI the next day. However, a possible shift is EEO and OMS.

I realize the Tuesday morning looks like a bust. I know it's terribly loose and unstructured but I found during the last running that I was doing some hand-holding and in general acting like a den mother for a lot of bewildered Scouts.

Art - In view of original request by the DDA to include ADMAG, I don't think it should be dropped as quickly because of one bad show. ADMAG should also learn something from the reaction from the class. I would prefer to try again, but also tell ADMAG of last reaction in attempt to get a better effort. RW Will be checking with DTR about MAG participation. My own feeling is that [REDACTED] would provide a better Thursday evening session than D/Security, but you have the feel of it better than I.

Attached is a draft schedule for the next Trends, 17-20 Feb. I've made a few modifications and have attached a copy of the last running for your comparison.

1. Because of the lukewarm response to the ADMAG in December I did not include them this time.

2. Rather than get two doctors from OMS as has been done in the past, I'd like to shoot for the Director of Medical Services or his deputy. If I can't get either, then I will revert to the panel or two. (Is there such a thing as a panel of two??)

3. As something interesting and different I've put down the Director of Security on the last night as an evening session.

4. John McMahon thought his session in the last Trends was flat as there were very few questions. To give him an idea of what the class has been ^{thinking} about and asking I want to break the class into teams the day before and have each team come up with questions. I will edit and refine the questions before giving them to either John or Jack.

In the precourse reading I would like to include the "History of the DDA."

In view of the fact that I will be going on leave for two weeks, I'd like to get this OKd ASAP so that I can start calling my speakers by the beginning of next week.
