1. The 7th regular meeting of the Subcommittee for Guidance to Collectors was held on 10 December 1957.
2. The Minutes of the preceding meeting were reviewed and approved.
3. The compilation of collection requirements and guidance relating to sub-launched missiles was reviewed and with some minor reorganization, was approved for reporting to GMIC. A draft of the over-all report regarding sub-launched collection requirements received preliminary review and will be put into final draft form by Mr. Martin, Navy, for final consideration by the Subcommittee for Guidance to Collectors early next week.
4. The Navy member proposed that the Air Force collection guide for its priority requirements for Information (PRI) #8 on sub-launched missile characteristics, be used as a basis for preparation of a guide for the use of all agencies interested in the problem. It was further noted that this guide can usefully be up-dated and corrected; the Navy and CIA members indicated an interest in undertaking this with the Collection Operations Branch (CIN-1A) on a unilateral basis. The Chairman agreed to make the necessary arrangements on the Air Force side.

5. The Chairman proposed that in view of the fact that the SGC was organized for a tentative period of six months, that the review of collection guidance should properly be expedited. It was suggested that a way of doing this would be for each Agency to assemble all of its collection requirements and guidance regarding guided missiles and that the SGC in a series of sessions, review and prepare a summary report as to its adequacy. Having completed this, the SGC might then focus its attention on trouble spots as the situation indicates or as may be directed by GMIC. The proposal was tentatively agreed to as a course of action with the reservation that the SGC should first complete the review of the sub-launched missile problem.

6. The next regular meeting of the SGC is scheduled for the 20th of December at 1300 hours in Room 142, Pentagon Annex #3.
