Latin America: Various extremist groups in Ecuador and Venezuela plan to demonstrate against Governor Rockefeller and his party.

In Ecuador, where the Governor will arrive today, Communist and other leftist groups are organizing for demonstrations, but their plans seem to be uncoordinated and still in the formative stage. The Velasco government is looking forward to the Governor's arrival and has warned potential troublemakers to behave. President Velasco has also ordered that extensive security precautions be taken to ensure a successful visit.

Governor Rockefeller's arrival in Venezuela early next week is likely to provoke violent anti-US demonstrations.

President Caldera has rejected demands that the trip be canceled and has stated that his government is determined to protect the Governor and maintain public order.

There were minor student demonstrations throughout Colombia prior to the Governor's arrival there on 27 May. Heavy security precautions in Bogota have kept incidents there to a minimum.
