WEATHER REPORTS LISTED FOR ROMANIA

5 AUGUST -- Universal, No 183, 6 Aug 49

Under the influence of subpolar masses of air, the weather has been cool, the barometer high, the sky overcast. The winds have been north and northwest in Transylvania, north and northeast in Moldavia and the eastern part of the country, and northeast in Basaritul Mnteniilor and Dobrogea. Light rains have been recorded in the mountainous regions. The 0800 temperatures varied between 24 degrees at Caracal and 10 degrees at Campu-Lung (Moldavia); the barometer readings were 766 millimeters at Arad and 762 millimeters at Mangalia. Highest temperatures yesterday were 36 degrees at Alexandria and 19 degrees at Predeal, but there were temperatures of 20 degrees in the vicinity of Alexandria and 4 degrees at Campu-Lung (Moldavia).

Weather forecast. -- After a rise of 1 to 3 millimeters, the barometer will fall tomorrow. Same general conditions with cloudy skies. Gentle west and northwest winds in the western part of the country, with night temperatures ranging from 20 degrees at Alexandria to 4 degrees in the mountainous sections.

High temperatures are continuing throughout the country as a result of the masses of dry, continental air which are covering the entire country. The skies are clear and the winds gentle. The 0800 temperatures were 22 degrees at Arad, Timisoara, and Urziceni and 13 degrees at Campu-Lung (Moldavia); the barometer readings were 767 millimeters at Iasi and 762 millimeters at Lugoj. Yesterday's maximum temperatures were 33 degrees at Targul-Jiu and Alexandria and 21 degrees at Predeal; during the night the temperature was 20 degrees at Boita (Sibiu) and 8 degrees at Campu-Lung (Moldavia).

Weather forecast. -- The barometer will fall slightly and the weather will remain unchanged, with clear skies.
