b. A new Polish vessel of about 12,000 tons discharging unidentified cargo at Weishan Wharf.	' '.
c. An old Polish vessel of about 10,000 tons discharging oil drums at the Asiatic Petroleum Company Wharf.
d. A 14,000 ton Russian tanker discharging oil by pipe to the China PetroLeum Company.
there was a large concentration of tank cars in the marshaling yards on the opposite side of the river of the Asiatic Petroleum Company. A train of tank cars left in the direction of Shanghai every twenty minutes. Four fuel barges, of about 200 tons capacity, were shipping gasoline from the Asiatic Petroleum Company installation to the opposite side of the river, where the gasoline was pumped directly into the tank cars.	25
there were at least ten merchant ships under repair at Shanghai; four were off the Weishan Dockyards and six in the Whangpoo	2:
