REMARKS This is UNEVALUATED

there were plans for the construction of a new VFL airfield near Frankenberg. Preparatory work was allegedly to be started in December 1954. In this connection, informant also mentioned Falkenberg (Alt Loennitz).

Comment. It has not been clarified whether Frankenberg or Falkenberg (Alt Loennitz) is meant. A former German auxiliary airfield, covering an area of about 1,500 meters from west to east and about 1,000 meters from north to south, is located near the eastern exit of Frankenberg, about 2 km from the center of the town. Frankenberg is about 12 km northeast of Chemnitz. The airfield is bordered by the Frankenberg-Freiberg road to the north. According to the last report of August 1948, the field area was to be released for gardening.
