THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

1. Attached are charts showing a partial organization of the Soviet Mineral Oil Administration (SMV) in Austria and many of its top Soviet officials. The information is taken from a number of sources; the actual charts themselves, however, were prepared by coordinating the information and arranging it in accordance with what is known generally about Soviet economic organizations in Austria. It is believed that the main outlines of the SMV organization are correct. Furthermore, the actual personalities and job titles do exist. The detailed layout of the organization, however, should be considered no more than informed speculation. 25X1
2. The Organization of the SMV. Attached as Annex I to this report is a general chart of the SMV which emphasizes the top levels of the organization. The offices from the staff sections on up are in the building at Kantgasse 1, Vienna I, where the General Directorate is located. The following additional offices which are not included on the chart are also located in the Kantgasse building. 25X1
 - a. Legal Division - Known personalities are Director Wsehuh (fnu) and Chief of Section Gorschkov (fnu).
 - b. Geophysical Kontor - Director M. V. Pavlenko.
 - c. Safety Engineer - Bashovskiy (fnu).
 - d. Chief Mechanic - Romanoff (fnu); reportedly the superior of a certain Tscheplov (fnu) who heads a mechanical workshop in Siebenhirten.
3. General Director Serafin Tcheplov, who replaced former director Grigori Sidorenko, was first noted in Vienna about 1 July 1954. He is second in command, although the Chief of Personnel, Udalov, is second in command, although the Chief Engineer Agadzhanov has appeared in the role of [redacted], and the Chief of Staff, Udalov, at talks with the representatives of the Western oil companies in Austria.
4. The responsibilities of the central refinery office are reportedly not extensive, being primarily routine personnel matters. It was reported by one source that the Soviet official known as the "General Director of Refineries", W. D. Pavlov, has filled in as head of the entire SMV in the absence of the General Director; nevertheless, Pavlov's office apparently does not rank with the "chief" officials who appear to serve as deputies to the General Director. Pavlov is a professional oil man who has reportedly worked at Baku and in the Urals.

5. As of about 1 October, Chief Geologist Golyakov was on leave in the USSR, but was expected to return. His position was being filled temporarily by Osipov.
6. The chief of the drilling section, P. Tjupin, replaced Vasili T. Novikov in the position on about 1 October 1954. The exact position of Novikov, who remains in Austria, is not certain.
7. Crude Oil Production Units (SEBs). Attached as Annex II to this report is a chart of the different crude oil producing fields which lists the known Soviet directors.
8. The director of SEB Aderklaa, Voronzov, replaced former director Ivan Ivanovich Malinin on about 1 October 1954.
9. The director of SEB Schoenkirchen, Osipov, is expected to return to the Soviet Union. It is reported that the new director will be W. K. Luzkov.
10. On 18 October 1954, it was reported that a new production unit, to be called SEB Gaenserndorf, would be added to those already in existence. It was said that it would include some of the wells now under SEB Bockfliess and that its territory would extend northeast to the March and Danube rivers.
11. Organization of the Main Drilling Office. Attached as Annex III is a chart of the main drilling office, Bohrbetrieb Prottes. Its Soviet director, Korniyenko, worked previously in the Rumanian oil fields and reportedly received a high Soviet award for his work there.¹
12. Refineries Controlled by the SMV. Attached as Annex IV to this report is a chart of the SMV refineries and their known Soviet directors.
13. Other Important Offices of the SMV. The following major offices of the SMV were not included on the charts:
 - a. OROP - The Austrian merchandising firm for SMV products is incorporated under Austrian law and is not included formally in the SMV organization. It has, however, a representative in the Kantgasse, presumably in one of the commercial offices. There is also an OROP representative at each refinery, who coordinates orders from Kantgasse for OROP production and, on occasion, checks the products.
 - b. Technsab - The Buero fuer Technische Warenbeschaffung, the central procurement and supply office is headed by Tarutin (fnu). It controls the Central Warehouse at Neusiedl (ZMN). Technsab is located in the SMV building at Taborstrasse 1, Vienna II, which houses the following additional SMV offices:
 - (1) Wachgruppe - Formerly known as the Werkschutz, this is the SMV's para-military guard unit of approximately 2,000 Austrians, The Soviet director is Chromin (fnu).
 - (2) Feuerwache - Head office for various SMV fire-fighting units.
 - (3) Gebaeudeverwaltung - Administrative office for SMV buildings.
